

Chau Do
Director of the Compliance Risk Analysis Division

Chau Do is the Director of the Compliance Risk Analysis Division within Economics at the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC).

Dr. Do joined the OCC in 2004. She has taken part in many policy projects, including a method to identify areas for larger institutions that have potentially higher risk of discrimination in mortgage lending. Her research interests include education and household behavior.

Dr. Do holds a Ph.D., in economics from the University of California, Santa Barbara, and a bachelor's degree from Santa Clara University.